

791-home neighborhood to be built at Centerra

Written by Pat Ferrier

Apr. 8, 2014

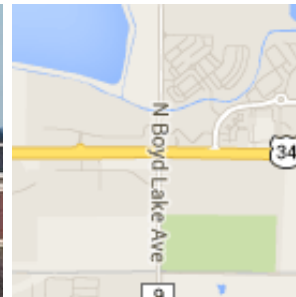

coloradoan.com

791-home neighborhood to be built at Centerra

The Lakes at Centerra will offer options ranging from townhomes to custom homes on 300 acres.

Traffic on Interstate 25 pass by Promenade Shops at McWhinney's Centerra development in this Nov. 17, 2009, file photo. / Coloradoan library

Google What's next?

McWhinney will break ground on The Lakes at Centerra at 11 a.m. Tuesday on the southwest corner of the construction site, Boyd Lake Avenue and Lost Creed Drive. RSVP: Lesa Biedron, (970) 776-4028.

McWhinney, developer of Centerra in Loveland, is partnering with four home builders to bring 791 homes to a new 300-acre neighborhood, The Lakes at Centerra.

Located north of U.S. Highway 34 and Boyd Lake Avenue in Loveland, The Lakes at Centerra will include townhomes, single-family homes and patio homes.

The project will officially break ground Tuesday.

Boulder Creek Neighborhoods will build ranch-style patio homes and townhomes; TRI Point Homes will build ranch and two-story homes; Village Homes will build "spacious" energy-efficient, single-family homes called The Park Collection; and Wonderland Homes will build luxury single-family homes and patio homes.

Amenities will include a lakeside clubhouse with swimming pool, community barbecues, a playground and trails winding through 275 acres of wetland.

A new pre-K through eighth-grade school is in the design phase and planned for the corner of Boyd Lake Avenue and Lost Creek Drive.